Mrs. Jonathan Tice will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. B. Douglas, in Brown City.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church are holding their bazaar and bake sale in the basement of the church today, Thursday.

Ed Elsenheimer has moved his restaurant from the Palmer building to the office building just north of where he was.

The publisher's family wish to thank Well Barr and Geo. Boice for kind remembrances of their recent trip in the north woods deer hunting.

The past month was the third gloomiest November in forty-five years. There were 22 cloudy days, 7 partly cloudy and only one clear day.

George Gough & Son, funeral directors and embalmers, have purchased a fine new auto hearse. They are now better prepared to attend funerals.

Born to the wife of Lloyd Silverthorn on Monday, December 5th, 1921, a baby daughter. Congratulations to the parents of this first little newcomer.

The Detroit Free Press recently stated in headlines "32 Hunters killed, 3 missing, score hurt." This is a heavy toll to pay for hunting. Deer hunting seems to be a dangerous pastime.

Mrs. J. E. Staley returned Saturday night from the Port Huron hospital where she was operated on about three weeks ago. She is feeling much better and friends hope the operation will prove beneficial.

A slight blaze, caused by someone lighting a match to see how much gasoline the auto tank contained at the Star Oil Co.'s filling station last Tuesday evening created considerable excitement. No damage was done.

The third number on the Lyceum course being given this winter under the auspices of the Music club will be the Magician and Reader, Arthur Irwin, who comes to Yale and the Auditorium on Tuesday next, Dec. 13.

The Pere Marquette has assigned special officers to check the loading of coal from railroad property in Port Huron. More than 100 tons have disappeared so far this fall. Men, women and children come with all sorts of vehicles, baskets and bags. All will be prosecuted and punished hereafter.

Mrs. Hiram McConnell entertained ten little girl friends at her home on Tuesday, Dec. 6th. It was in honor of her daughter Vera, and was a surprise, the occasion being her tenth birthday. At 5:30 lunch was served and heartily enjoyed. Vera was the recipient of many useful presents. All had a fine time.

Miss Anna Reynolds, of Elk township, underwent a surgical operation for gall stones Sunday. The operation was performed by Dr. Wight, of Yale, assisted by Drs. Ross, of Capac, and Cochran, of Peck. While very sick, she is getting along as well as can be expected. A trained nurse is in attendance.—Peck Times.

J. H. McMartin, a pioneer weather critic, of Port Huron, says: "Every indication points to an open winter. I have followed weather conditions and have my own weather kiosk. I am willing to go on record that it will be an open winter. This will mean a saving on coal for some time, but I believe that cold weather brings better business results."

Jesse Tice, a Lynn farmer, some weeks ago lost the battery from his auto. Later it was found in a straw stack on another farm. On Halloween he lost two wheels from his wagon. Just recently they were found in an old stone well west and north of Yale. There may be a joke connected with this "disappearing" game, but Jesse can't see it.—Capac Journal.

The ladies of the Methodist Protestant church are pleased with the success of their bazaar, which consisted of lingerie, fancy work, aprons, home baking, etc. All was disposed of with the exception of a few articles. Though neither the bazaar or the proceeds were as large as last year, all work was donated, leaving the regular aid day for quilting and other work. The ladies take this opportunity of thanking those who donated, also those who patronized the bazaar.

Benjamin Davenport, editor of the Algonac Courier, was ill in bed four months last winter and had a trained nurse. After he got better he was lonesome for his nurse and the result of this was his marriage to her last week in Detroit.

Mrs. Rose Harsen, of Algonac, a member of the family which for more than a century owned Harsen's island, died very suddenly at her home last week, aged 63 years. Harsen's island was only just recently taken over by the state.

The 16th annual opera of the University of Michigan will be given in Port Huron at the Majestic theatre on Dec. 27th. The title of the opera this year is "Make it For Two," which includes a cast of 100 or more members.

The bazaar and bake sale held at H. A. Williams' store by the ladies of West Brockway Aid was a decided success in every way, over $70 being realized from sales and the ladies are very grateful to Mr. Williams for the use of his store.

The double Red Cross Christmas Seals will be on sale in the stores of Yale, and also at the school until Xmas. This sale is for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of tuberculosis patients being cared for in hospitals and sanitariums.

Chauncey Kelley was royally entertained at a banquet given by the Mark Brown hunting club in Port Huron the first of the week. Mr. Kelley is a member of this club, and has gone into the wilds of northern Michigan deer hunting each fall for the past twenty-five years.

OBITUARY

Albert Carlyle, for many years a resident of the vicinity of Yale, died at his home in Detroit Wednesday, Nov. 30, 1921, cause, Bright's disease. He was confined to his bed only 4 or 5 days.

Born in Courtland township, Kent county, Michigan, October 1, 1853. Married Eliza J. Pearson May 16, 1882. Came to Yale in 1892 and located on a farm northwest of the city where he remained until 1908, when he bought the Harrison Smith farm at Old Brockway. Two years ago he moved to Detroit where he resided at the time of his death. Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle, one dying in 1900. A widow and one son, Roy C., remain to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father. Deceased had many warm friends who join with the Expositor in expressing sympathy to the bereaved in their sorrow.

The remains were brought to the home at Brockway and funeral services were held there on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mumby, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church officiating. Burial in Elmwood cemetery.

We desire to express our appreciation for the many kind acts of neighbors and friends, to the minister for his words of comfort and consolation, and for the beautiful floral offerings.

Mrs. A. Carlyle and Son.

John Wiltshire, a pioneer resident of Lynn township, died at 10 o'clock Sunday night, Dec. 4, at his home in Brown City, aged 77 years, 5 months and 17 days.

Was born in city of Brantford, Ont., where he lived until 47 years ago, when he moved to Brockway township. Moved to a farm in Lynn township 30 years ago. Sold his farm two years ago and purchased a house and lot in Brown City, where he passed away. The widow, one daughter and one son, Tressa and George, three brothers and one sister in Canada, and one sister, Mrs. Wm. Edgerton, of Yale, survive.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday at 12:00 noon, from the Mennonite church in Lynn. Burial in Elmwood cemetery, Yale.

Mrs. John Richardson died at the Port Huron hospital, Monday, Dec. 5, after undergoing an operation. The body was brought to Yale Tuesday morning and burial services are being held today. Obituary next week.

Melvin to Vote on Bond Issue for Light Plant

Melvin, Dec. 1—The voters of the village are being approached this week with a petition which will be presented to the village council at their next meeting on Monday night, asking that body to proceed to hold a special election to ascertain the possibilities of bonding the village for a sufficient sum to install an electric light plant and furnish light to the village.
